DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 8 – 13 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected inventions, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 10/7/08.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(c) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

3. Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(c) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,120,462 to Hibner et al.

In reference to claim 6, Hibner et al. disclose a biopsy instrument comprising: a base assembly including a firing mechanism (Col. 7, lines 34 - 36); a probe assembly (20) detachably mounted to the base assembly, the probe comprising: a cutter assembly comprising: a cutter (96) rotatable about its longitudinal axis; a piercer assembly comprising: a piercer (70) having a tissue piercing tip (72) and a side tissue receiving port (78) spaced proximally from the tip, the piercer adapted to be carried distally toward a target by operation of the firing mechanism (Col. 7, lines 34 - 44); and a transmission disposed proximally of the piercer (Figure 5), wherein the transmission is operable to provide motion of the cutter, wherein the transmission receives rotary motion about an axis angled with respect to the cutter's longitudinal axis in that flexible rotatable shafts (34, 36) can impart rotary motion to the transmission about an angled with respect to the cutter's longitudinal axis (See Figure 1).

In reference to claim 7, Hibner et al. disclose a biopsy instrument and a source of rotary motion (24) separate from the biopsy instrument; the biopsy instrument comprising a base (Col. 7, lines 34 - 36), a probe assembly (20), and a transmission (Figure 5); the base including a firing mechanism (Col. 7, lines 34 - 36); the probe assembly detachably mounted to the base, the probe assembly including: a cutter assembly comprising a cutter (96) having a longitudinal axis; a gear mechanism (104, 114) adapted to move the cutter; a piercer assembly including a piercer (70) including a cutter lumen adapted to receive the cutter, a closed distal tip (72), and a tissue receiving port (78) spaced proximally of the closed distal tip; a probe mount (90) adapted to slideably connect the piercer to the cutter assembly; and the transmission operative to receive rotary motion about an axis angled with respect to the cutter longitudinal axis from the external source of rotary motion and transmit rotary motion to the cutter assembly gear mechanism in that flexible rotatable shafts (34, 36) can impart rotary motion to the transmission about an angled with respect to the cutter's longitudinal axis (See Figure 1).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 6/5/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant asserts that Hibner et al. fails to disclose the claimed invention. However, the Examiner disagrees (See above).

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
